DANNALS WINS CITY OPEN WITH 140

Cooley, Tied With 4 Others At 148, Tops Professionals

By ED MILES

After several years of knocking strongly at championship gates only to be denied admission, Charlie Dannals, Jr., Monday saw the portals of the Atlanta Open championship swing wide for him.

Charlie scored a brilliant 67-73-140 in the steady drizzle that kept half a hundred contestants uncomfortably damp and was as clearly superior to his field as was Johnstown in the Derby.

Johnstown finished eight lengths ahead at Louisville and Dannals was eight strokes ahead of a group of five tied for second place with 148. This group included, in order, Hoak Cooley, who was the professional; J. Dave Black, John Bailey and Tommy Barnes. Hoak, who is assistant to Howard Beckett of the Capital City Country Club, collected the first prize professional check of $50. Teddy Hayes, Candler Park pro, with 150 was second and that was worth $25 to him, while Harold Sargent, assistant professional at East Lake, and Charlie Edens, who handles the professional retins at the James L. Key Course, tied for third place with 152.

Sargent was given a check for $15 and Edens, who understood there was to be no third-place money, went home empty-handed but planned Tuesday morning to call upon young Mr. Sargent for a division of the retins or for a settlement of the issue in a private match. Mr. Sargent, a well-to-do man, was expected to agree to arbitrate either way.

THE SECOND-PLACE deadlock which involved four amateurs and Cooley, was settled by a roll of the dice in the country club grill. Tommy Barnes rolled off seven, a "natural" had the play been for a shoot instead of high roll, and Billy and Dave Black had nine, then Charlie Black, Jr., found out on eleven to write that issue.

Despite the rain which made the Capital City course play unusually long, the scoring generally was better than in any previous open tournament. Dannals' 67 led the first eighteen holes and Hoak Cooley, with a 71, was in second place when the afternoon round
